

Minority Meals

Description

Each culture has its own typical dishes. We all know that Germans like eating Kartoffeln, Italians are famous for eating spaghetti, and in Spain everybody eats tapas. But what are the eating traditions of the minorities in these countries, like the Ladins, the Sorbians, the Catalan, the Basque and the Galicians? The Minority Meals project aims at collecting recipes from local dishes that are characteristic for the minorities of the involved partner schools. The result is a digital minority meal cookbook, in which all the different recipes are brought together.

Learning objectives

The project "Minority Meals" has the following learning objectives:

- To teach the pupils to gain a better understanding of their own cultural background
- To create an intercultural awareness among the pupils
- To teach/improve the children's (technical) communication skills
- To exploit the pupils' creative skills
- To teach/improve the children's writing/reporting skills

Target Group

This project is recommended for children with at least a basic knowledge of English.

Optional variety

Once the digital minority meal cookbook is ready, it would be a fun activity for the pupils to actually try cooking and eating some of the meals!
